

HOW TO HAVE CONVERSATIONS WITH YOUTH ABOUT CANNABIS

Seeking consultation with adults who work with youth

An opportunity in Calgary with the Canadian Centre on Substance Use and Addiction

As Canada moves to regulate the use of non-medical cannabis, our goal is to get people talking! No matter what your age, talking and sharing thoughts and feelings helps us in understanding different issues. To learn more about cannabis, we want people to ask questions and have honest, open conversations. Through this facilitated discussion, we want to find out from service providers who work with youth on a regular basis how to engage youth in an open, honest and two-way conversation. Understanding youth perspectives and viewpoints is important so that adults, trusted youth allies and supporters can be well-informed and have effective conversations with youth about cannabis.

Please join us for a discussion about meaningful ways to equip youth allies with the necessary tools to engage youth in non-biased conversations on cannabis. Breakfast will be provided.

WHEN: Thursday, November 16th, 9:00 am - noon

WHERE: Alberta Health Services, 10301 Southport Lane SW, Calgary, Room 1003

To attend, please RSVP to:

Kerry McLean, Provincial Initiatives Consultant

Child, Youth & Family Initiatives

Addiction & Mental Health

Alberta Health Services

403-560-0712

kerry.mclean@ahs.ca

Canadian Centre
on Substance Use and Addiction

Evidence. Engagement. Impact.

Centre canadien sur les dépendances et l'usage de substances

Données. Engagement. Résultats.